Background: Beige (#F4EFE7)

Text:

You're capable. Responsible. The one people rely on.

You lead at work.

You lead at home.

And most of the time, you're holding more than anyone sees.

Design:

- Serif font
- Large size (40–44px)
- Strong spacing
- Final line slightly emphasised
- Optional gold underline

👉 This section must create immediate emotional recognition

SECTION 3 — PROBLEM EXPANSION

Centered layout

Copy:

But behind the scenes, it can feel like a lot.

You're making decisions constantly.

Carrying responsibility.

Thinking about what's next while managing what's now.

On paper, things look good.

But internally, you might feel stretched, second-guessing, or pulled in too many directions.

Between ambition, expectations, and the pace of life and business, it’s easy to lose alignment with what actually matters.

Not because you’re not capable.

But because you haven’t had the space to step back and think clearly.

You don’t need another productivity hack.

You don’t need to work harder.

You need space to think.

Structure to lead.

And support to realign.

Bullet Section:

You might be here if:

- You’re growing a business but feel scattered or low on energy
- You’re leading others while quietly second-guessing yourself
- You’re juggling work, family, and expectations with no space to think
- You’re ready for your next level but unsure what to focus on first
- You’ve built something meaningful but it no longer feels fully aligned
